Regional History Collection/Student Research
American Architecture Papers
Finding Aid

Scope and Content

A graduate seminar class on American Architecture is offered periodically at the University of West Georgia. The papers contained in this collection represent student work in the seminar, as well as forms, newspaper articles, maps, and other information that pertain to a 1977 architectural survey of Carroll County. Almost all of the research papers in the collection are studies of the identifying architectural styles of individual properties or structures in Carroll County. The quality of research varies but grades and evaluations of the research papers have been removed out of a concern for the privacy of the students.
