ESSAY #1 REQUIREMENTS

- Due Thursday, September 15 at the beginning of class
- At least 3 FULL, top-to-bottom pages (does not include works cited page)
- Standard MLA format
- Title, works cited page
- Typed, double-spaced, proper margins, 12-point font, Times New Roman
- Use specific quotations from the text with accompanying analysis
- Standard rules of paragraph construction (i.e. topic sentences, supporting quotations, appropriate transitions)
- Essay should be guided by an argumentative/analytical thesis statement

Step 1: Consider class discussions about Hamilton and then identify a sign within the text (be specific!) that demonstrates how it is representative or symbolic of a specific moment in modern American culture.

Step 2: Once you choose your sign, you should begin the drafting process by crafting a paragraph that explains Hamilton’s impact. In this paragraph, work to succinctly describe the text by providing background information about Hamilton itself as well as its context. In other words, explain what was going on in America at the time the text was first introduced (don’t forget to cite your credible sources). Information from this paragraph will ultimately become a portion of the introductory paragraph.

Step 3: Begin constructing an argument that identifies the specific reason you think Hamilton has attained its place in history. This reason should not be a list of stuff, but rather a larger, overarching claim that offers an explanation for HOW the text is representative of a moment in American culture or WHY the text has changed an aspect of American culture. Keep in mind that although you may not use first person when writing this essay, your explanation can, and most likely will be, your own personal opinion.

Step 4: Create a list of at least four ways that Hamilton does whatever you have claimed in Step 3. Next, construct a topic sentence about each item on your list. Use these topic sentences to craft an outline for each body paragraph.

Step 5: Construct an introductory paragraph that draws from information identified in Steps 1 and 2. Remember that a successful introduction not only provides background information, but also establishes and introduces all ideas important to the understanding of your thesis.
