

Senegal 2002

I visited the village of Ndem, where I had made friends in 1987-88 as an exchange student in Kalamazoo College's program.

Their grassroots development projects were doing well in 2002. This is the office for coordinating artisanal production in Ndem

I joined village women on a pilgrimage to visit the mosque in Touba.

This is where I used to live in 1987-88 as an exchange student in Dakar

The same men hung around the entrance to the Courtyard (but the arches used to be open
