Mission Statement: The mission of the Integrative Health Studies (IHS) Certification is to facilitate the development of leadership in Integrative Health by providing solid theoretical foundation in integrative health and introduction to the latest practices of integrative health in the U.S.

Integrative Health is one of the fastest growing areas in the health industry. Combining the strengths of conventional and alternative systems of healing, Integrative Health is an exciting field for students preparing for a health care license as well as health care professionals who are already licensed.
