Get to Know Your GrantForward Profile!

After you create a Researcher Profile, you can explore its various features and connect with other researchers that have similar research interests.

- First, you can see a list of all the research opportunities that GrantForward has recommended for you.

- Second, you can look at your Research Timeline, which is set so you can see changes in your research interests throughout the years and which words appear in your publications the most. You can also embed your Research Timeline on any website of your choosing.
- Third, you can use your Researcher Profile as your research homepage that integrates all your essential information and research.
