<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Phase 1:</td>
<td>Sense of excitement • Right “to do” list • Things will get better (hope) • Quick fixes are implemented • Team in place • Some skeptics • Overall lots of enthusiasm</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Phase 2:</td>
<td>We/they • Inconsistency apparent • Bigger challenge and more work than thought • This will impact me—change for all • Some are getting it and getting it faster • Some are not and may not</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Phase 3:</td>
<td>Performance gap is evident • Tougher decisions must be made • Process improvement increases due to accountability and skill level • Inconsistencies obvious that if not fixed, progress will halt and organization will go backwards</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Phase 4:</td>
<td>High performing results • Everyone understands the keys to success • Disciplined people and disciplined processes displayed in organization • Proactive leadership</td>

How do we get to the next level?

A Continual Process of Communicating the "Why"

Embrace disruption, and remember these efforts are to improve continuously, to transform lives, and, during this journey, to become the best place to work, learn, and succeed!
Communicate – This is the WAY we do what we do—not an addition to what we do.

We must embed all of this in the normal life of the institution.
This year, our Legacy Year, the leadership challenge is to model and communicate how all of this fits together, and leads to the ultimate goal...
ENGAGE WEST!

Making UWG the best place to work, learn, and succeed!
