

WOLFIE

FINDS HIS HOWL

Executive Reading Summary

As of June 30th, 2023

“Wolfie Finds His Howl,” the children’s book from the University of West Georgia, was released in October 2021. Since that time, the project has evolved to include a coloring book edition, a fun sticker sheet, and even a sing-along song!

UWG First Lady Dr. Tressa Kelly – whose passion for early learning and childhood literacy sparked the inspiration for the project – has also visited more than a dozen elementary schools, libraries, and early learning centers to share the story.

Here’s more information on the project’s impact since October 2021:

📖 Readings and Appearances with Dr. Tressa Kelly and Wolfie at:

📖 21 Elementary Schools

- Carroll County
- Coweta County
- Douglas County
- Gwinnett County
- Haralson County
- Heard County

📖 Local Libraries

📖 UWG Pre-K

📖 UWG Summer Camps

📖 Children (and Grown-Ups!) Who Have Attended a Reading or Appearance: 4,757

📖 Miles Traveled to Reading Locations: 831.2

If you’d like to own your very own copy of “Wolfie Finds His Howl,” visit westga.edu/wolfiebook or scan the QR code. All proceeds from the sale of the book and related items benefit the UWG scholarship fund.