Why Evidence-Based Leadership?
The Evidence-Based Leadership model provides an objective, measurable framework for leadership and planning. It allows individual leaders, departments, and the university as a whole to accurately gauge progress toward our goals.

Why Leadership Institutes?
Effective, well-trained leaders are critical to creating employee engagement and making UWG the best place to work, learn, and succeed. These institutes are designed to provide leaders the skills and techniques they need.

How does effective leadership help us reach our goal of becoming the best place to work, learn, and succeed?
Leaders connect people to purpose. Those in leadership positions need to be highly skilled communicators who can model excellence for those they work with, demonstrate how each function and task supports the university’s goals, and develop their people effectively.

Who participates?
Leaders at a director level or above, as well as most assistant and associate directors, managers, and supervisors will take part in the LDIs.

How/when will UWG know the LDI was a success?
When leaders are able to implement the training in ways that increase employee engagement, satisfaction, and accountability thus helping the university reach its goals.
