

Tailoring the Student Experience Guide

1. What field is the student worker receiving their degree in?

2. What are their current career goals or plans once they graduate?

3. What is their current role within the department?

4. What are tasks, or jobs, within the department, or current role, which could begin to align with their future goals?

5. Are there training opportunities internally or externally that would benefit them?

6. How many hours a week can their schedule be adjusted to allow for this training time?

7. Are there professional organizations, or on-campus groups, which could assist them with their career development?

8. Is there a person or department on campus who is within their desired field and who would be willing to assist them with developing a career roadmap?
