

Timestamp	1. For which semester did you request a library instruction session or sessions?	2. Was this the first library instruction session you requested?	3. How did you hear about library instruction sessions?	4. How did you schedule your library instruction session(s)?	5. Was your instruction session tied to a particular assignment?	6. Do you think the library instruction your class received affected the quality of the assignments students turned in?	7. How likely are you to schedule another library instruction session?	8. Would you recommend library instruction to a colleague?	9. Do you have any comments or suggestions you'd like to share?
4/27/2011 9:46:27	Fall 2010	No		Form on website	No		Somewhat likely	Yes
4/27/2011 9:48:44	Fall 2010	No	Through the website	Form on website	Yes	The instruction was never received. Nobody ever got back to me. In fall 2009 I encountered the same problem and I was told that there is a LIBR course so they don't have time to provide extra instruction. Way to go!	Very unlikely	No	It is just a shame.
4/27/2011 9:51:56	Fall 2010		Personally, through Andrea Stanfield.	Email to librarian	Yes	Definitely so. Some of my students had never been previously exposed to the material presented and had no idea how many resources were available.	Very likely	Yes	Andrea is a wonderful instructor, both in front of a group and in individual sessions with students. All students who have consulted with her have described the experience in glowing terms.
4/27/2011 10:08:03	Fall 2010	Yes	I heard about the service from a colleague.	Email to librarian	Yes	The support and instruction was of high quality. And, I believe that this enhanced the quality of the assignments turned in.	Very likely	Yes

Timestamp	1. For which semester did you request a library instruction session or sessions?	2. Was this the first library instruction session you requested?	3. How did you hear about library instruction sessions?	4. How did you schedule your library instruction session(s)?	5. Was your instruction session tied to a particular assignment?	6. Do you think the library instruction your class received affected the quality of the assignments students turned in?	7. How likely are you to schedule another library instruction session?	8. Would you recommend library instruction to a colleague?	9. Do you have any comments or suggestions you'd like to share?
4/27/2011 11:33:01	Spring 2011	Yes	From a variety of sources, other faculty and interactions I have had with library staff.	Form on website	No	I believe it did help the freshmen and sophmores to help identify research sources that had more scholarly value than random websites, which was very much beneficial.	Very likely	Yes	1) I don't remember why, I may have simply overlooked the link to schedule the instruction period on the library's main page, but I did a search for the request form from the library website and apparently ended up filling out an old/outdated copy which prevented my initial request from being received. I would suggest that for, admittedly "duh," people like me you make sure there is no way to navigate to anything but the current form. 2) I would emphasize the ability to reach out the larger university system to get books and information more than was done so in the session offered.

Timestamp	1. For which semester did you request a library instruction session or sessions?	2. Was this the first library instruction session you requested?	3. How did you hear about library instruction sessions?	4. How did you schedule your library instruction session(s)?	5. Was your instruction session tied to a particular assignment?	6. Do you think the library instruction your class received affected the quality of the assignments students turned in?	7. How likely are you to schedule another library instruction session?	8. Would you recommend library instruction to a colleague?	9. Do you have any comments or suggestions you'd like to share?
4/27/2011 13:36:23	Spring 2011	No	From another history professor who had scheduled an instruction session for his summer methodology class	Email to librarian	Yes	I think that it was helpful for them, perhaps not for any one individual assignment, though I think they were able to more readily locate a book for their book reviews. But more importantly, I think they have a better idea of the range of sources and materials the library has for their future history classes and assignments.	Very likely	Yes	I really appreciated Diane Fulkerson's animated and well organized presentation to my class. She had excellent handouts and was able to direct them to discipline specific sites that I am hopeful they will continue to utilize. She was also very helpful to those in the class doing secondary education.
4/27/2011 15:56:31	Spring 2011	Yes	Department Chair	I had to email because the form would not load properly.	Yes	They were able to find sources they could use.	Very likely	Yes
4/28/2011 9:43:51	both	Yes	Orientation, told directly by a librarian	talked to a librarian in person	Yes	In the Spring, it made a major difference in getting the students going with their research early enough in the semester so that they took the assignment seriously--still waiting for all the final papers to come in to judge the ultimate quality of their research	Very likely	Yes	It wasn't clear until the last minute that I needed a computer lab for the session. The room I had access to didn't have enough computers for all my students. In the future, I would need more time to find a lab big enough to accommodate my class.
4/30/2011 14:23:16	Fall 2010	No	Learned about it from a colleague in my department.	Form on website	No	I think it improved the quality of the subsequent speeches the students had to research.	Very likely	Yes	None

Timestamp	1. For which semester did you request a library instruction session or sessions?	2. Was this the first library instruction session you requested?	3. How did you hear about library instruction sessions?	4. How did you schedule your library instruction session(s)?	5. Was your instruction session tied to a particular assignment?	6. Do you think the library instruction your class received affected the quality of the assignments students turned in?	7. How likely are you to schedule another library instruction session?	8. Would you recommend library instruction to a colleague?	9. Do you have any comments or suggestions you'd like to share?
5/2/2011 12:02:56	both	No	Dean Sullivan notification emails.	Form on website	Yes	Yes!! It was need for them to take part in the library instruction. It help them with their final assignment!	Very likely	Yes	I think that every class should incorporate the library instruction in their schedules. It is beneficial for the students to understand what research is and how to incorporated it into their subject areas!!!
5/4/2011 10:28:13	both	No	I think I just asked my department's library liason if they were possible.	Email to librarian	Yes	Yes. The session was an orientation to available research materials (databases, GIL, etc.). I think the students were more likely to use these materials after the session.	Very likely	Yes
5/6/2011 17:50:15	Fall 2010	Yes	from an email from the library sent to UWG 1101 instructors	Email to librarian	No	not necessarily. It was for information only	Very unlikely	Yes	Not scheduling another session as not teaching that class again.

Timestamp	1. For which semester did you request a library instruction session or sessions?	2. Was this the first library instruction session you requested?	3. How did you hear about library instruction sessions?	4. How did you schedule your library instruction session(s)?	5. Was your instruction session tied to a particular assignment?	6. Do you think the library instruction your class received affected the quality of the assignments students turned in?	7. How likely are you to schedule another library instruction session?	8. Would you recommend library instruction to a colleague?	9. Do you have any comments or suggestions you'd like to share?
5/10/2011 14:38:40	Spring 2011	Yes	Word-of-mouth	Form on website	Yes	Yes --I think fewer of them were tempted to use non-credible sources or sources with questionable credibility.	Very likely	Yes	I really think that Andrea's visit helped tremendously. The students seemed to feel comfortable with the idea that they could actually contact a librarian after meeting her. I had been telling them to go to the library, email the library, etc. -- they were reluctant to do so for whatever reasons, but after our visit, I think they felt more comfortable. I was also able to use her as an authority figure --I'd been telling them that "I can't find anything" is a sign that the search parameters aren't working. They didn't believe me until she said the same thing!