

LIBRARY'S PROXY SERVER LINK

In order for links to our licensed databases to work from off-campus, you must add the Library's proxy server link in front of the permanent URL for the article. What this basically does is fool the remote computer (i.e., where the database is located) into thinking you are on campus, and thus eligible for using their database because you are a UWG faculty, staff or student. When off-campus, it prompts the user to enter the current GALILEO/Library password for this semester.

The proxy server link is:

<http://ts.isil.westga.edu/login?url=>

It must be inserted directly in front of the article URL, with no spaces between it and the article URL, or it won't work.
