Student-Professor E-mail Correspondence: You are welcome to e-mail me with questions, but please do not abuse this privilege (i.e. re-sending thesis statements multiple times with changes made according to my suggestions). At a certain point, this becomes excessive collaboration. Likewise, do not send e-mails asking questions that I have covered in class or that you can find on your own (due dates, course policies, etc.). Should you miss class, it is your responsibility to find out what work you missed (by consulting the online syllabus/handouts) and to get the notes from a classmate.

UWG Email Policy: University of West Georgia students are provided a MyUWG e-mail account. The University considers this account to be an official means of communication between the University and the student. The purpose of the official use of the student e-mail account is to provide an effective means of communicating important university related information to UWG students in a timely manner. It is the student’s responsibility to check his or her email.

I also ask that you observe standard grammar and punctuation rules when e-mailing me or any other professor. DO NOT send e-mails that are in “text speak.” This is not an appropriate form of communication outside the realm of sending an actual text.

*Note: All student-professor e-mail correspondence must take place via your my.westga.edu account. If you need to reach me outside of class and/or office hours, e-mail is the most efficient way to do so. Also, please be aware that I cannot communicate with your parents; should you have concerns about your progress in the course or any other issues that arise, you should address them with me personally.

COURSE OBJECTIVES
- Students will be able to identify, analyze, and practice the various discursive modes involved in everyday self-presentation.
- Students will develop the ability to adapt their oral communication to specific purposes and audiences.
- Students will learn and practice techniques of effective conflict resolution, team building, stress management, and impression management.
- Students will achieve a deeper awareness of the subtext underlying oral communication, how to read it in others, and how to master their own.
- Students will learn how to express themselves more precisely and articulately by expanding their vocabulary and leading/participating in current events discussions.

REQUIRED TEXTS AND MATERIALS:

- Scott Berkun's Confessions of a Public Speaker

Other materials:

- One (1) double pocket folder with binding spine in the middle (usually of the three-pronged variety).
- One (1) pack of 3x5 index cards. The big pack.
- One (1) USB flash/thumb drive. This does not need to be a specific drive for the course, but every student should have one on which he/she saves all typed assignments. In addition, throughout the semester we'll be doing labs and exercises that will require assorted items that I'll ask you to bring to class...I'll give you plenty of notice, and none of them are very expensive.

Please note: on the rare occasions when I ask you to complete a formal writing assignment, I will not accept electronic submissions.

COURSE EVALUATION:

You must complete all your assignments in order to pass this course.

Before you look at the specifics of how I'll be assessing your work this semester, please read the following excerpt regarding "Five Habits of Mind" from From Students to Citizens and Workers: An Interview with Deborah Meier by Janice Molloy, which briefly outlines the intellectual skills you'll need to cultivate in order to succeed in this (and any other) college course, available here: http://www.pegasuscom.com/levpoints/meierint.html

COURSE POLICIES:

ATTENDANCE: In this course particularly, your attendance and participation in every class is essential to your success, and to the progress of your classmates. Moreover, the nature of our class work demands a high level of concentration and student interaction; I want to create the most conducive environment possible in order for every student to excel. Therefore, I will only allow FOUR absences (the equivalent of two weeks missed work)--if you exceed that number, you will fail the class.

In order to discourage chronic lateness, I count each late arrival to class as half an absence. If you're absent on the day of a graded exercise (panel discussion, presentation, interview, lab, etc.), you will not have the opportunity to make up the assignment.

ALSO: Please remember that the very thought of speaking in public terrifies about 90% of the world’s population. For this reason, I will not tolerate any behavior deemed disrespectful by either myself or the collective consciousness of all humans - sometimes referred to as common sense. Please remember that everyone in this class will be nervous initially, and that everyone will be speaking in public on numerous occasions. If you are mean to a classmate while he/she is speaking, I will heckle you when it is your turn and then I will administratively withdraw you from the class.

In addition, please be aware that the success of this class depends upon every student’s individual contribution to the class. Several of the projects in class will require you to work with other students, and some will require you to assess other students in their degree of success/competency. I expect, therefore, that you will work with each in a constructive, compassionate and rigorous environment, sharing ideas and expertise for the benefit of the group as a whole. Part of your responsibility in this class is to help each other improve, and this means that you must point out your class mates’ strengths as well as their areas of weakness in order that every student might grow in his or oral communication skills. I expect you to deliver your feedback in an honest and tactful manner.

We'll create assessment criteria together in class so that everyone will know precisely what to look for and how to give feedback to classmates.

WEEKLY JOURNAL: Throughout this semester, your class's journal day will always be Monday ...please complete this important assignment each time as follows:

1) Each entry must be 1.5 to 2 typed pages (not counting headings), double-spaced, 12-point font--proofread and spellchecked! I do not give any credit whatsoever to journal entries that do not meet this length requirement.
2) Bind each entry in your double-pocket folder... always bind your LATEST journal entry on top.
3) In each entry, please describe a communication skill you learned in class the previous week, and how you applied it in your everyday interactions outside of class...also, you might want to discuss what worked for you and what you'll do differently next time, as well as other relevant points you'd like to make.
4) You must submit TEN journal entries during the semester; Week 15 is the last week in which I will be accepting journal submissions.
5) Note: the spirit of this assignment--namely, a method of regular, reflective learning and self-evaluation--prohibits writing journal entries weeks in advance.
6) I will only give credit for ONE journal entry per week, so please keep track of the number of entries you submit so that you can fulfill the ten-entry requirement by the last day to submit journals.
7) I welcome your candor in journal entries, and I never share anything you write with any other person inside or outside of class. I do ask, however, that whatever your comments, you maintain a tone of respect both for yourself, your classmates, and your teachers.

As the above instructions suggest, I only accept journals that are formatted accordingly; I do not accept journals via e-mail. Always bind your LATEST journal entry on top.

You must submit TEN complete journal entries this semester; I do not accept electronic submissions.

LATE WORK POLICY:

I do not accept any late work (sorry). Being late with your class work hinders your own progress as well as that of your classmates, especially in a class of this nature. I define a "late assignment" as one that you have not given to me during class on the day the assignment is due.

Department Paperless Policy

As of Fall 2006, the English Department implemented a “paperless” policy in its classrooms. Therefore, all materials (handouts, assignment sheets, notes, etc.) will be made available online. Students may print these necessary course documents, including the syllabus, on their home computers.

Disruptive Behavior Policy

All electronic devices (cell phones, iPods, etc.) should be turned off and out of sight during class. If your phone rings, the penalty will be humiliating for you and entertaining for everyone else. Students should also maintain respect for the instructor and fellow peers, abstaining from disruptive behavior, including talking out of turn (i.e. side conversations and comments not intended as a part of class discussion), consistently arriving late, or sleeping during class. Students may be dismissed from any class meeting at which they exhibit behavior that disrupts the learning environment of others; each dismissal of this kind will count as an absence and will be applied toward the attendance requirements policy above. Sleeping or texting in class will result in an automatic 0 for that day’s participation grade, regardless of performance on quiz, response, etc.

Plagiarism & Excessive Collaboration Policy

Plagiarism and Academic Dishonesty

The Department of English and Philosophy defines plagiarism as taking personal credit for the words and ideas of others as they are presented in electronic, print, and verbal sources. The department expects that students will accurately credit sources in all assignments. An equally dishonest practice is fabricating sources or facts; it is another form of misrepresenting the truth. Plagiarism is grounds for failing the course. (See also, excessive collaboration.)
The university policies for handling Academic Dishonesty are found in the following documents:

The Faculty Handbook, sections 207 and 208.0401
http://www.westga.edu/~vpaa/handrev/

Student Uncatalog: "Rights and Responsibilities"; Appendix J. http://www.westga.edu/handbook/

Excessive Collaboration

Students should demonstrate the ability to produce independent writing (writing without collaborative assistance of peers, writing tutors, or professionals in the field) that shows an acceptable level of competence. Although classroom activities and out-of-class assignments may highlight collaborative learning and collaborative research, excessive collaboration (collaboration that results in the loss of a student's voice/style and original claims to course-related work) is considered another form of academic dishonesty and therefore will not be permitted.

Disability Pledge

I pledge to do my best to work with the university to provide all students with equal access to my classes and materials, regardless of special needs, temporary or permanent disability, special needs related to pregnancy, etc. If you have any special learning needs, particularly (but not limited to) needs defined under the Americans with Disabilities Act, and require specific accommodations, please do not hesitate to make these known to me, either yourself or through Disability Services in 272 Parker Hall. Students with documented special needs may expect accommodation in relation to classroom accessibility, modification of testing, special test administration, etc. This is not only my personal commitment: it is your right, and it is the law! For more information, please contact Disability Services at the University of West Georgia.

MLA Documentation Policy: The department expects that students learn to cite sources accurately in the MLA style for documentation.

Make-up Work Policy: Students may not make-up missed quizzes or other in-class assignments unless granted an extension.

Additional Expectations and Policies:

Americans with Disabilities Act: Students with a documented disability may work with UWG Accessibility Services to receive essential services specific to their disability. All entitlements to accommodations are based on documentation and USG Board of Regents standards. If a student needs course adaptations or accommodations because of a disability or chronic illness, or if he/she needs to make special arrangements in case the building must be evacuated, the student should notify his/her instructor in writing and provide a copy of his/her Student Accommodations Report (SAR), which is available only from Accessibility Services. Faculty cannot offer accommodations without timely receipt of the SAR; further, no retroactive accommodations will be given.

Credit Hour Policy: The University of West Georgia grants one semester hour of credit for work equivalent to a minimum of one hour (50 minutes) of in-class or other direct faculty instruction AND two hours of student work outside of class per week for approximately fifteen weeks. For each course, the course syllabus will document the amount of in-class (or other direct faculty instruction) and out-of-class work required to earn the credit hour(s) assigned to the course. Out-of-class work will include all forms of credit-bearing activity, including but not limited to assignments, readings, observations, and musical practice. Where available, the university grants academic credit for students who verify via competency-based testing, that they have accomplished the learning outcomes associated with a course that would normally meet the requirements outlined above (e.g. AP credit, CLEP, and departmental exams).

University of West Georgia Honor Code: At the University of West Georgia, we believe that academic and personal integrity are based upon honesty, trust, fairness, respect, and responsibility. Students at West Georgia assume responsibility for upholding the honor code. West Georgia students pledge to refrain from engaging in acts that do not maintain academic and personal integrity. These include, but are not limited to, plagiarism, cheating, fabrication, aid of academic dishonesty, lying, bribery or threats, and stealing. The University of West Georgia maintains and monitors a confidential Academic Dishonesty Tracking System. This database collects and reports patterns of repeated student violations across all the Colleges, the Ingram Library, and the School of Nursing. Each incidence of academic dishonesty is subject to review and consideration by the instructor, and is subject to a range of academic penalties including, but not limited to, failing the assignment and/or failing the course. Student conduct sanctions range from verbal warning to suspension or expulsion depending on the magnitude of the offense and/or number of offenses. The incident becomes part of the student’s conduct record at UWG. Additionally, the student is responsible for safeguarding his/her computer account. The student’s account and network connection are for his/her individual use. A computer account is to be used only by the person to whom it has been issued. The student is responsible for all actions originating through his/her account or network connection. Students must not impersonate others or misrepresent or conceal their identities in electronic messages or actions.
