Course Information

Course Description
This course serves as an introduction to the central features of film and film study. We will explore film as a form of technology, business, popular entertainment, art, document, and cultural product, foremost through careful examination of formal elements. This course will emphasize the ways in which film is a distinct medium.

Required Texts and Materials

NOTE: You will be required to view many films as we discuss different film elements, but I will leave it to your discretion as to how you access these films. Many will be available through Netflix or Amazon streaming. Some are available through the Ingram Library. You can also check out films from the English Department's film library in TLC 2256. Please see the chart at the end of the tentative class schedule for film availability. You MUST watch these films prior to our discussion of them in class. No excuses for failing to do so.

Additional Supplies: A notebook or binder with a pocket for in-class activities and notes

Late Work Policy

- Students with valid and documented emergencies (hospitalization, family death, etc.) may reschedule the midterm and final if necessary. Please see me in advance of the exam date (if possible) to set up a makeup date.

- The shot-by-shot analysis (Industrial Assignment #1) must be submitted in hard copy and in the Industrial Assignment #1 drop box on Course Den by the beginning of class on Feb. 24th. Any essay submitted after the due date will receive a 5 pt. deduction (half a letter grade) each day it is late. Essays submitted after March 2nd will NOT be accepted. Students with valid and documented emergencies should speak with me by the due date (preferably before the due date, if possible) if an extension needs to be discussed.

- The written portion of the marketing research project (Industrial assignment #2) is due on April 15th. Presentations of the research will begin on Apr. 15th and will run through Apr. 22nd. You will be asked to sign up for a day to present prior to the due date. It is essential you are in class to present your project. If you turn in the written portion of the project but do not present, you will only receive half credit for the assignment, which will greatly impact your final grade. NOTE: Attendance at these presentations will be mandatory.

- Class Participation:
  - If you miss an in-class assignment or quiz because you are tardy or absent, you will NOT be allowed to make up the assignment you missed.
  - If you miss an in-class assignment, don’t worry! I will drop ONE low or missed class participation grade at the end of the semester. You can also earn an additional extra credit that will replace a low or missed daily grade with a “100.” To earn this extra credit, you must do the following:
    - Attend an on-campus or off-campus academic event (for example, a guest lecturer or filmmaker, a COAH event, a play, etc.) from any discipline and write a 1-2 paragraph, typed response to the event. This response should:
      1. Clearly identify the event you attended and the date and time of the event.
      2. Include a thoughtful response that addresses some or all of the following questions: How does the event connect to themes/ideas discussed in class? What was your reaction to the event? What was discussed at the event you attended? What did you learn? If it was a film or theatrical performance, what themes were addressed? What do you make of the character performances, staging, etc.?
      3. Extra credit will not be accepted after Monday, April 27th, the last day of regular classes.
NOTE: No additional opportunities will be given to makeup missed class work.

Attendance Policy
Your regular participation in this class is a vital part of your success. Each student is allotted up to three absences—no more. NOTE: Students with valid and documented emergencies (hospitalization, family death, etc.) should contact me to discuss your status in the class if your emergency causes you to miss more than 3 class periods.

Upon the student’s fourth absence, his/her grade will automatically revert to a “D” and upon the fifth, a “F.”

If you incur a fifth absence, you will have two options: 1) withdraw from the class, which will generate a W if done on or before Friday, February 28th—or a WF if after that deadline or 2) remain on the roll (still attending classes, if so desired) and receive an F for the course/semester. Therefore, if you suspect that outside responsibilities might cause you to miss more than four classes, then you should consider taking the course at another time. Note: There is no distinction between excused and unexcused absences. October 9th is the last day to withdraw from class with a W (without incurring a WF).

Disruptive Behavior Policy
Students may be dismissed from any class meeting at which they exhibit behavior that disrupts the learning environment of others. Such behavior includes – but is not limited to – arriving late for class, allowing cell phones to ring, speaking disrespectfully to the instructor and/or to other students, checking email or surfing the web, and using personal audio or visual devices. Each dismissal of this kind will count as an absence and will be applied toward the attendance policy above.

Tentative Class Schedule*

NOTE: Readings labeled FA come from Film Art. For required film viewings, please see the chart at the bottom of the tentative schedule for film availability.

Americans with Disabilities Act Statement:
If you are a student who is disabled as defined under the Americans with Disabilities Act and require assistance or support services, please seek assistance through the Center for Disability. UWG also provides Accessibility Statements for Technology that you may be required to use for this course.

For more information on the Americans with Disabilities Act, UWG Email, Credit Hour, and UWG Honor Code policies as well as information on Academic Tutoring, Student Services, and Technical Requirements, Privacy Policy, and Accessibility Statements, please see the Common Language for Syllabus document.

I strongly recommend that students make an electronic copy of everything submitted to me via the dropbox.

Honor Code
At the University of West Georgia, we believe that academic and personal integrity are based upon honesty, trust, fairness, respect, and responsibility. Students at West Georgia assume responsibility for upholding the honor code. West Georgia students pledge to refrain from engaging in acts that do not maintain academic and personal integrity. These include, but are not limited to, plagiarism, cheating, fabrication, aid of academic dishonesty, lying, bribery or threats, and stealing.

The University of West Georgia maintains and monitors a confidential Academic Dishonesty Tracking System. This database collects and reports patterns of repeated student violations across all the Colleges, the Ingram Library, and the School of Nursing. Each incidence of academic dishonesty is subject to review and consideration by the instructor, and is subject to a range of academic penalties including, but not limited to, failing the assignment and/or failing the course. Student conduct sanctions range from verbal warning to suspension or expulsion depending on the magnitude of the offense and/or number of offenses. The incident becomes part of the student’s conduct record at UWG.

Additionally, the student is responsible for safeguarding his/her computer account. The student’s account and network connection are for his/her individual use. A computer account is to be used only by the person to whom it has been issued. The student is responsible for all actions originating through his/her account or network connection. Students must not impersonate others or misrepresent or conceal their identities in electronic messages and actions. For more information on the University of West Georgia Honor Code, please see the Student Handbook.
UWG Email Policy

University of West Georgia students are provided a MyUWG e-mail account. The University considers this account to be an official means of communication between the University and the student. The purpose of the official use of the student e-mail account is to provide an effective means of communicating important university related information to UWG students in a timely manner. It is the student’s responsibility to check his or her email.

Email Etiquette:

Your college experience prepares you for your future professional life by teaching you the knowledge needed for a particular occupation as well as by introducing you to proper etiquette in professional environments. How you address your professors and structure your emails are parts of your display of professionalism and reflect on your character. When emailing a professor, begin with a proper address (Mrs. Morin,) and follow with a thoughtfully written, grammatically sound email. Remember, emails are not texts, so write complete sentences and be mindful of spelling and tone. Also respect your professor’s authority. Sending an email that reads, “What did I miss today?”—1) Fails to address the teacher respectfully by disregarding his/her authority and time, 2) hints at your disregard for the class by not giving a valid reason for your absence, and 3) shows a disregard for class policies by not first consulting the syllabus and/or a class peer. Finally, when sending an email attachment, be sure to also include an email explaining why you sent the attachment. Don’t just send the attachment—that reads as rude and leaves your professor to figure out why you sent the attachment. Be respectful and thoughtful in your correspondences. Your future boss will not tolerate carelessness. He/she has a wealth of applicants to choose from, so how you structure initial communications with him/her creates an impression about your character and work ethic.

Email Responses:

I rarely check emails after 6:00 pm or on weekends (unless there is a major assignment due the upcoming week). I reserve that time to be with my family, so please be mindful of that when sending emails. If you send an email in the evening, it may be the following morning before you receive a response.
