Course Description
“HISTORY IS, STRICTLY SPEAKING, THE STUDY OF QUESTIONS.” – W. H. AUDEN
“HISTORY HAS ITS EYES ON YOU.” – LIN-MANUEL MIRANDA

This course surveys the history of the world from about 1500 to the present. The course is structured as the examination of a discrete number of historical questions, which come from across the chronological and geographic expanse of human history over the last 500 years. We will endeavor to answer the historical questions through reading, writing, lecture, and class discussion.

Learning Outcomes
Students who successfully complete the course will be able:
• to demonstrate the ability to understand the political, social, economic, or cultural dimensions of world history; and
• to think historically.

Required Materials:
There are two required books available in the bookstore:

McKay, A History of World Societies since 1450, vol. 2, 10th ed., ISBN 978-1-319-00699-0. Note this is the ISBN for the book with access to the Launchpad site included. Students must have access to the online Launchpad site from the publisher Macmillan. That access can be purchased separately from the hardcopy book for $85.99 from the publisher Macmillan.

There will also be additional primary sources available online.
Online Textbook and Launchpad Information
In addition to the CourseDen site for this course, students must access Macmillan’s Launchpad site, which has its own online course portal unique to this class.

Go to http://www.macmillanhighered.com/launchpad/mckayworld10e/5845777
Bookmark the page to make it easy to return to (although note the the URL will look different due to security measures).
Enroll in this course using one of the following options:
If you have an access code, select "I have a student access code", enter the code exactly as it appears on the card, and click Submit.
If you don't have an access code, either purchase a text package that includes one OR click "I want to purchase access" and follow the instructions.
If you need to start working but can't purchase right away, select "I want temporary access" and follow the instructions. Please note: Your grades are linked to your Launchpad account username (email address). If you use temporary access, make sure you purchase or register your code using the same email address for your paid access.
If you have problems registering, purchasing, or logging in, please contact Customer Support.

Grading
First Exam: 15 percent
Second Exam: 20 percent
Final Exam: 25 percent
Paper: 20 percent
Writing-to-learn exercises: 5 percent
Learning Curve Quizzes: 5 percent
Summative Quizzes: 5 percent
Class Participation: 5 percent

Quizzes
Before most class meetings, students will need to complete two quizzes on the reading assigned for that day, both of which are taken online through the Launchpad site. Both types of quizzes cover readings in the textbook. The first kind of quiz is a Learning Curve quiz, which students can work on until they reach full credit. The second kind of quiz is a summative quiz over material in the textbook. These summative quizzes include 5-15 questions. Students are allowed only one attempt at the summative quiz. The examinations will draw some of the multiple-choice questions from the summative quizzes.
These quizzes are intended to encourage students to do the reading. Each quiz must be completed before the class meeting that addresses material covered in that chapter. No late quizzes are permitted. There will be no make-up quizzes without documentation of good grounds. The lowest grade for both the Learning Curve and the summative quizzes will be dropped. Students will be able to see their Launchpad quiz grades in Launchpad, but those grades do not automatically show up in the CourseDen gradebook. I will not enter those quiz grades into the gradebook on CourseDen after November 30.

Exams
Each of the three examinations will have two parts. The first part will consist of 25 multiple-choice questions. Most of those questions will come from the online summative quizzes, while others will cover the primary sources. Each question will be worth two points. The second part of each exam will pose a few questions drawn from lecture. Each student will write one essay responding to one of the questions posed. The essay will be worth 50 points. The final examination will cover only material since the second examination. Bring a blue book and a scantron sheet to each examination.

The Paper
Each student must also write a three-page, typed, double-spaced paper analyzing sources in the Politics and Society in Japan’s Meiji Restoration book. Students should submit an electronic copy of the paper to the Drop Box on CourseDen by 9:00 am on October 3 and a paper copy of the paper at the beginning of class that day. Late papers will be penalized by deducting one letter grade for each day the assignment is late.

The paper will be graded based on the following rubric:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Does the paper meet the requirement of academic honesty?</th>
<th>Not Present</th>
<th>Unsatisfactory</th>
<th>Fair</th>
<th>Good</th>
<th>Excellent</th>
</tr>

<tr>
<td>Thesis</td>
<td>Paper does not make an argument about the past.</td>
<td>Paper attempts unsuccessfully to articulate an argument about the past. It may present a question, but not actually answer it.</td>
<td>Paper makes a claim about the past, but it is wholly unconvincing or superficial.</td>
<td>Paper states a thesis making a claim worth arguing about, but it does not offer particular insight, or there are problems with its expression or persuasiveness.</td>
<td>Paper clearly states a persuasive thesis making a historical claim worth arguing about. Thesis shows originality or thoughtfulness.</td>

<td>Analysis</td>
<td>Paper does not analyze the material relevant to the assignment.</td>
<td>Paper offers analysis that suffers from serious weaknesses.</td>
<td>Paper offers generally weak analysis that is fairly superficial.</td>
<td>Paper offers sound analysis, but there may be some weaknesses in the ability to critically and empathetically examine the evidence. Paper’s insights are not especially probing.</td>
<td>Paper effectively analyzes evidence, showing thoughtfulness, critical thinking, empathy, and command of the methods of historians.</td>

<td>Paper fails to offer evidence in support of an argument. It misquotes evidence or does not cite it.</td>
<td>Paper uses evidence, but has serious weaknesses in use of evidence. Evidence does not support assertions. Evidence is irrelevant. It is misquoted or misrepresented.</td>
<td>Paper uses relevant evidence, but there are weaknesses. Some irrelevant evidence is included. Trivial misquotations exist. Problems fitting evidence into the paper.</td>
<td>Paper mobilizes relevant evidence, but there are weaknesses. It may not use the best evidence or fit it into the analysis smoothly.</td>
<td>Paper effectively mobilizes relevant evidence in a persuasive manner to support its argument. It shows a discriminating eye and sophistication.</td>

Writing-to-learn exercises

Students must complete five writing-to-learn exercises through the course of the semester as well. At the beginning of each class, in addition to describing the question to be explored in the readings and the identifications for the next scheduled class, I will pose a narrowly focused response question calling for analysis of the assigned primary source reading for the next class. That narrowly focused question should be answered in writing. The question on the first assigned source is: what does the source suggest motivated the Portuguese to sail to India?

Over the course of the semester (with the exception of the first class and test days) students must submit four short, written source analyses. Students should bring to class two copies of a short, typed paragraph responding to questions about the assigned primary source and submit one copy to the instructor at the beginning of class.

One writing-to-learn exercise must involve creative, historically-informed imagination instead of close analysis of a primary source. As with the source analysis exercises, the goal of this assignment is to lead students to engage with, and to understand, the material in the course more deeply. In this assignment, though, the imagination is freed from traditionally close grounding on evidence that historians demand of traditional historical accounts of the past. Students should imagine themselves in the shoes of some historical actor, and create something from that person’s point of view.

My model here is the musical Hamilton. That musical creatively imagines the past in a way that is informed by the historical record of what historical figures did and thought, but it assertively and openly employs anachronism as well. An anachronism is something that is historically out of place. The historical evidence indicates, for example, that Alexander Hamilton did not, in fact, rap. I encourage you to create a work that is informed by the past, but which also consciously employs anachronism. If your work addresses or employs language reflecting sexism, racism, homophobia, religious bigotry, or other similar matters, please do not employ terminology current in the United States today in treating it. If your imaginative work discusses such matters, employ historical language that has virtually disappeared from usage in the present in addressing them. Please try to keep it PG-13.
Feel free to exercise your imagination on the form of this assignment. I can imagine all sorts of things: a rap by Olympe de Gouges or Peter the Great; a blog post by Qing official Lin Zexu; a series of tweets by Akbar, ruler of the Mughal Empire; or a dialogue among African slaves who survived the Middle Passage to labor on a Barbados sugar plantation. Do not feel constrained by these examples. You can submit written documents, sound files, or videos. It is your responsibility to ensure that I can access the material you submit, so be sure to make the media pretty idiot-proof. Explore the mindset of someone from the past in an informed and creative way.

Each writing-to-learn exercise is due at the beginning of the class period in which we discuss the material addressed in it. No late writing-to-learn exercises will be accepted. Each piece will be graded as either constituting a good-faith effort (GFE) or not.

These will translate into the following grades:

Participation, etc.
Thoughtful contributions made in class discussions will be credited in the class participation grade. Behavior (such as tardiness) that impedes other students’ learning will be penalized.

It generally takes me one week to grade a set of papers or exams. No extra credit will be offered.

Where to Turn for Help
I strongly encourage students to come talk with me if or email me if you have questions or concerns. I am here to help. There are other resources on campus as well.

Policies
I expect each student to understand and to comply with the University of West Georgia’s policies on Academic Honor and Academic Dishonesty. They may be found in the Student Handbook, on the web at http://www.westga.edu/assetsSA/handbook/2015-2016_Student-Handbook-and-Planner_Rev072715.pdf

Academic honesty prohibits taking credit for someone else’s work. Justice requires that punishment fit the infraction. Egregious academic dishonesty will result in failing the course and may also bring additional penalties imposed by the university.

I encourage any student who has questions or needs help with the course to come to my office hours or send me an email to set up a time to talk.

In addition, students may wish to consult with the Writing Center (http://www.westga.edu/~writing) and/or the Center for Academic Success.

In accordance with the Americans with Disabilities Act and university policy, I will make reasonable accommodation for any recognized disability. Students should contact me during the first two weeks of the course and present documentation from the University’s Accessibility Services Center.

I strongly encourage students to attend class. Students who attend class tend to learn more and get better grades than those who do not. Class discussion sometimes affords new insights that cannot be planned or predicted. In case of absence, it is the responsibility of the student to obtain notes from a classmate covering what was missed. I do not penalize students for absences, but students receive no credit for participating or on any tests or quizzes on missed class days. A student who does not take a quiz or test as scheduled receives a zero. I do not permit students to take any test at any time other than as scheduled except in rare cases of prior approval or with a physician’s note.

For important policy information, i.e., the UWG Honor Code, Email, and Credit Hour policies, as well as information on Academic Support and Online Courses, please review the information found in the Common Language for Course Syllabi documentation at http://www.westga.edu/assetsDept/vpaa/Common_Language_for_Course_Syllabi.pdf. Additions and updates are made as institution, state, and federal standards change, so please review it each semester.

Course Schedule
Students are expected to have mastered the assigned reading and completed the required quizzes before each class meeting. As indicated on the schedule below, on some class meetings there are not quizzes due. The quizzes are scheduled below so they are to be completed before the last class meeting in which we deal with material from a given chapter in the textbook. Note that we will not be following the order of the chapters in the textbook all the time.
