Office: Boyd 328

Class Hours & Classroom(s): Section N01, 95-99% online

Pre-requisites: MATH 1113 or MATH 1111 or MAT 151 (minimum grade C)

Course Website: CourseDen, MyMathLab

MyMathLab and Textbook:

Bittinger, Ellenbogen, and Surgent; Calculus and Its Applications, 11th Edition.

All students are required to have a MyLab Math account (www.MyMathLab.com). The course code for this section is kang98908. See the registration instruction Section N01 if necessary.

An e-textbook is available in your account. The hard copy of the textbook is not required.

Course Contents

Course Description: This course will provide a survey of the differential and integral calculus of polynomial, rational, exponential, and logarithmic functions with an emphasis on applications to problems from business, economics and life sciences.

Learning outcomes: The student will be able to

- compute limits graphically and algebraically
- compute derivatives of polynomial, rational, exponential, logarithmic functions
- apply calculus to optimization, related rates, and curving sketch problems
- apply calculus to problems from business, economics, and life science
- understand the definition of the indefinite and definite integral; Riemann sum
- apply the Fundamental Theorem of Calculus, both I and II
- compute the definite integrals using the techniques of integration by inspection and integration by substitution

Evaluation

Homework: Total 30%.

Online in MyMathLab, with unlimited attempts for each homework assignment.

Three Tests: Total 45% (15% each).

Online in MyMathLab, 4 hours, only one attempt for each test.

Tentative dates: 2/6-2/7 (Test 1); 3/12-3/13 (Test 2); 4/23-4/24 (Test 3).

Final Exam: 25%.

Cumulative, proctored, 5 hours, only one attempt.
