Course Description:  This course allows you to apply the concepts learned in the basic human resources (HR) course (MGNT 4620).  Through case analysis, practitioner-related articles, and assigned projects you will gain an appreciation of the types of situations that HR professionals face on a routine basis.  Additionally, you will become adept at using research tools used by HR professionals to address situations with which they may not be familiar.  Further, you will receive exposure to the journals, websites, and professional organizations that HR practitioners use to stay abreast of changes in the field.

Credit Hour Policy (3 credit hours):  For approximately fifteen weeks, students in this class will generally spend 150 minutes with direct faculty instruction (either face-to-face or online) and work about 360 minutes outside of the classroom each week. This out-of-class work may include, but is not limited to, readings, assignments, projects, group work, research, and test preparation.

Learning Objectives:

- Students will analyze HR-related cases, examine feasible alternatives for solving the cases, and recommend specific actions.
- Students will research an HR-related topic and prepare a class presentation on the topic using PowerPoint.
- Students will develop HR technical skills by completing quantitative-based assignments related to staffing and compensation. These assignments will be completed using Microsoft EXCEL and/or Microsoft Word.

Attendance:  You are expected to attend each class and be in your seat by 9:30 am.  If you are not in your assigned seat by 9:30 am or if you leave early, you will be counted as absent (I will forgive one tardy if you see me immediately after class).  With proper documentation and with prior approval, university-sponsored events or work-related activities (within reason) will not count as an absence.  Also, if you are sick and can provide documentation from a physician in a timely manner, your absence will be excused.  Please understand that your attendance record will be used when I assign your class participation grade.  Generally, only individuals with no more than one unexcused absence will be eligible to receive full credit for class participation.  Thus, I strongly suggest that you miss class only when it is absolutely necessary and that you arrive on time to class.

IMPORTANT: Please understand that anything you turn in to me or prepare for class should be written in a professional manner. Imagine that you are in an HR position and you are preparing work for your manager. I will examine and grade the grammar, punctuation, spelling, presentation, etc. your work.

IMPORTANT: Please note that all assignments are individual efforts. You are not allowed to offer or receive any type of assistance with the assignments. If there is evidence of you working together or discussing these assignments, you will be considered to be in violation of the UWG Student Conduct Code related to Academic Dishonesty. If you have questions about an assignment, just ask me.

IMPORTANT: All HR Projects and HR Tasks must be ready to turn in (i.e., printed out, stapled, etc.) at the beginning of class. If the assignment is not ready, I will deduct 10 points. If you do not turn in the assignment within 24 hours of the due date/time, you will receive a 0 on the assignment. If you have an excused absence and proper documentation, I will allow you to turn in the assignment at the beginning of the next class period.
HR Magazine Article Presentation (15%): HR Professionals are often required to update managers and employees on a variety of different issues. Thus, it is important that you have the ability to read about current HR-related topics and then be able to effectively explain them to others. For your presentation, you will be assigned an article from HR Magazine. HR Magazine is published each month by SHRM. It is probably the most widely read publications among HR professions. In addition to explaining the information in this article, you may use additional sources of information (e.g., articles, videos, relevant examples, etc.) to support your presentation. Your entire presentation must last between 13 and 15 minutes (you will likely need to practice your presentation to make certain that you can meet this time requirement). Before the presentation, you will need to provide me with a hard copy of your PowerPoint presentation. The rubric that I use to grade this presentation is attached.

NOTE: Depending on when the article was published, there are two ways to find the articles online. (1) For more recent articles, go to the SHRM website (www.shrm.org). Once on the website, go to “HR Today” -> “HR Magazine” -> “Past Issues” (As of 7/5/17, articles were available between January 2015 – May 2017) (2) For older articles, you can use the ABI/INFORM database online at the UWG Library (if you are not familiar with how to use this database, please see me or a member of the library staff).

Exams (30%): You will be given three exams during the semester so I can make certain that you understand the material presented in class. Thus, I expect everyone to be an active listener and take notes. I will post a study guide to help narrow down the material for you as you prepare for the exams.

IF YOU MISS AN EXAM, YOU WILL BE GIVEN A ZERO. CONSIDERATION FOR RESCHEDULING AN EXAM WILL ONLY BE GIVEN IF YOU NOTIFY ME BEFORE THE EXAM AND CAN PROVIDE APPROPRIATE DOCUMENTATION.

HR Projects (25%): You will be assigned six HR Projects this semester. We will not have a formal class meeting when these projects are assigned. Rather, I will allow you this time to work on the projects and I will be available to answer questions. Specific instructions for completing these projects are available on CourseDen. HR Projects are due at the beginning of the following class period.

HR Tasks (20%): You will be assigned seven HR Tasks this semester. These tasks should take less than an hour to complete. HR Tasks are due at the beginning of the class in which they are assigned. Instructions for completing these tasks are available on CourseDen.

Class Participation (10%): Your class participation is ten percent of your final grade. Everyone begins the semester with ten points. Assuming you have no more than one unexcused absence, you are properly prepared for each class session, and you actively participate in group discussions/exercises, you will maintain your five points in this area.

Please note that I reserve the right to administer quizzes at the beginning of class if I determine that students are not preparing for class. The grades on these quizzes will impact the class participation grade.

Please note that if I determine that you are working on materials not related to this course during our class time, you will receive a zero for your class participation grade and you may be asked to leave the classroom.
CourseDen: Your grades for this class and specific instructions for completing assignments will be posted on CourseDen. Also, if you lose your syllabus, a copy is posted for your convenience.

Responsibility for Material: I am certain that you will make every effort to attend each session of this course. However, in the event that you do miss class, it is your responsibility to obtain lecture notes from a classmate and to be prepared for the next session. Although I am more than willing to help explain unclear material, I cannot review all material presented during lectures on an individual basis.

Academic Support, Online Courses, Honor Code, UWG E-mail Policy, Credit Hour Policy, and HB 280

The VPAA’s Office at UWG provides common language on each of the above issues at the following website:

https://www.westga.edu/administration/vpaa/assets/docs/faculty-resources/common_language_for_course_syllabi_v2.pdf

Each semester, it is the student’s responsibility to review these policies.
