This course will explore the political system of the United States and Georgia. We will explore basic issues of Federalism, executive configurations, legislative systems, party systems, electoral systems, and bureaucracy. When you are finished, you will be able to speak knowledgeably about the politics and the political system of this country with peers and others and you will have a basic understanding of government in Georgia and the USA.

This class is designated as partially at a distance. For this class, this means that nearly everything is online, except the midterm and final exam. You will need reliable access to a computer and internet service, and access to Microsoft word.

Course Outcomes:
1. Demonstrate a knowledge of the historical background, foundations, origins, content, and application of the U. S. Constitution and Bill of Rights.
2. Demonstrate a knowledge of the Georgia Constitution.
3. Identify the institutions and processes of the three branches of government.
4. Recognize current political issues and the explain the policy making process.
5. Analyze the politics in terms of political behavior and linking institutions, including ideology, public opinion, elections, political parties, interest groups, and the media.
6. Students will demonstrate that they have developed an understanding of the political and legal processes of the U.S. and Georgia, and an understanding of the terminology of political science and U.S. politics, adapting written communication to specific purposes and audiences.

Grading:
A total of 900 points will be available.
- 400 points will be distributed via exams (a midterm and a final) worth 200 points each.
- 280 points will be distributed via cumulative quiz scores. (14x20)
- 100 points will be distributed through the first essay assignment, due with Module 3
- 120 points will be distributed via online discussion boards.

Plagiarism, fabrication, and cheating:
It is university policy that plagiarism, fabrication, and cheating are not allowed. Cheating is using information obtained in forbidden ways during an examination or assignment, including furnishing that information to another student. Cheating will result in a zero on the examination for students receiving information and for students who furnish it.
Fabrication is intentionally falsifying facts to support your conclusions. Fabrication will result in a failing grade on the assignment.

Finally, plagiarism is “representing the words or ideas of another as one’s own. Direct quotations must be indicated and ideas of another must be appropriately acknowledged” (UWG Connection and Student Handbook, p. 106). In addition, the purchase and use of ghost-written papers and reports, or incorporating into a report, term theme, research paper, or project, ideas and information obtained from another person without giving credit to the person from whom such information was obtained. Further, inclusion of the published or unpublished writings of another person without duly noting these sources according to normal scholarly procedures shall be considered plagiarism. The above definition of academic misconduct applies equally to improper use of electronic sources of information and opinion” (Faculty Handbook, University of West Georgia, January 2004, page 75).

If you plagiarize even a single sentence from another person, Including website authors and the course book, you will fail this course.
