

Graduate Round Table
Psychology 7810
Spring, 2018
1 hour credit

Instructor: Dr. Mark Kunkel
Office: 220 Melson
e-mail: mkunkel@westga.edu
Office Hours: TBA

Text: Readings to be assigned

Course Description: A graduate course intended to introduce Master's students to issues of thinking and being, as manifest in the University and among invited Department faculty.

Course activities and requirements: Students in the seminar will:

- Attend all course meetings (Monday, 12:00 – 12:50)
- Complete all course readings as assigned
- Post discussion questions to CourseDen in advance of each weekly meeting
- Respond carefully and considerately and thoughtfully to faculty guests' presentations and to one another

Grading Procedure: I'll make every effort to insure that your grades reflect adequately the quality of your work and the breadth of your involvement in the course. Periodic feedback will be given to you to apprise you of your level of performance.

I support and honor various gifts and challenges people bring to academic work. Any student with a recognized disability requiring accommodations of any sort should contact me.

Please see also the material in this link, considered part of the syllabus for the course:

<https://www.westga.edu/UWGSyllabusPolicies/>