Course Information
Course Description
This course will examine the United Nation’s Universal Declaration of Human Rights and will ask students to consider these human rights in their original context as well as through current conflicts around the world. Students will explore a variety of media (art, poetry, photographs, etc.) to discern the relationship between those media and our need to create a list of human rights, as well as our failure to uphold them at various points in our history. We will discuss the production of art as a coping mechanism for victims of human rights violations as well as the problematic nature of examining, evaluating, or analyzing art from and about events such as the Holocaust. Students will be evaluated by means such as quizzes, short writing assignments, one analytical writing assignment, and multi-media presentations.

Texts, Readings, Instructional Resources, and References
In addition to the primary texts listed below, we will read and discuss brief essays/articles (available on CourseDen), as well as other texts/media suggested by either myself or students during class discussions.
Required Text(s)
1) The United Nations Universal Declaration of Human Rights
2) Iris Chang The Rape of Nanking
3) 13th (accessed through Netflix)

3) Additional Supplies: A flash drive for saving essays; reliable access to a printer and email.

Course Objectives and Learning Outcomes

- Students will demonstrate an understanding of the characteristics that define and differentiate literary, filmic, and visual texts.
- Students will be able to apply this understanding to analyze the relationship between form and meaning.
- Students will be able to explain how diverse modes of humanistic and artistic endeavor contribute to an understanding of history, culture, and identity.
- Students will be able to produce written work that synthesizes evidence effectively in organized, specific, and focused paragraphs to support analytical claims.
- Students will demonstrate the ability in informal and formal writing contexts to express ideas using concise and rhetorically appropriate academic English.
- Students will demonstrate the ability to produce a thesis-driven essay that analyzes texts in relation to larger “real-world” questions of social, cultural, or thematic significance.

Assignments
(1) Reading Journal: students respond individually in writing to daily reading assignments (print, filmic, and visual), demonstrating
- expressive writing (personal response), and
- analytical questioning

Note: Both of these will help students move from response towards analysis. Journals will be collected regularly and used as prompts for class discussion.

(2) Response to analysis: a brief writing assignment, paragraph length at least, based on an observation, description, and analysis of an article, video, image, or poem. This assignment fosters intellectual curiosity and analytical questioning through a medium students know well and instills confidence in “analysis” before they move on to academic writing of their own.

(3) One short essay (2 pages): a shorter essay explicating an image or textual sign from a course text and its function in the text as a whole. This assignment builds upon the skills learned from the response to analysis, allowing for application of those skills to a visual text and moves the writer toward understanding how to build a thesis from critical analysis.

(4) Longer text and context essay (3-4 pages): an essay moving from a text itself to consider contexts: social, cultural, or thematic issues that the text raises in connection to the “real world” of individual experience.

(5) Final creative project: students will develop a creative project at the end of the semester on a topic of their choosing that is related to the course content. Students will develop a presentation related to this project at the end of the semester. Further details will be announced in class.

Essay Revision Policy

You will have the option to revise Essay 1 and 2. This revision must include: 1.) a hardcopy of your revised draft of Essay One, 2.) a stapled copy of the original graded draft, and 3.) a metacognitive reflection paragraph that thoughtfully discusses your plan for improving your essay (details for the revision reflection and submission guidelines can be found on CourseDen).
See course calendar for revision due dates. No late submissions allowed for revisions.

Please see the Common Language for Course Syllabi for official information on UWG’s Academic Integrity Policy. Note that I will enforce this policy.
Late Work Policy

- Essays: All final drafts must be submitted in hard copy and in essay drop boxes in Course Den by the beginning of class on the due dates. Any essays submitted after the due date will receive a 5 pt. deduction (half a letter grade) each day they are late. Essays over 10 days late will NOT be accepted. Students with valid and documented emergencies (hospitalization, family death, etc.) should speak with me by the due date (preferably before the due date, if possible) if an extension needs to be discussed.

- Class Participation: If you miss an in-class assignment because you are tardy or absent—as with the attendance policy, no distinctions will be made between excused and unexcused absences—you will NOT be allowed to make up the assignment you missed. However, I will drop ONE low or missed class participation grade at the end of the semester. You can also earn an additional extra credit that will replace ONE low or missed daily grade with a “100.” To earn this extra credit, you must do the following:
  - Attend an on-campus or off-campus academic event (for example, a guest lecturer or filmmaker, a COAH event, a play, etc.) from any discipline and write a 1-2 paragraph, typed response to the event. This response should:
    1. Clearly identify the event you attended and the date and time of the event.
    2. Include a thoughtful response that addresses some or all of the following questions: How does the event connect to themes/ideas discussed in class? What was your reaction to the event? What was discussed at the event you attended? What did you learn? If it was a film or theatrical performance, what themes were addressed? What do you make of the character performances, staging, etc.?
    3. Extra credit will not be accepted after the last day of regular classes.

NOTE: No additional opportunities will be given to make up missed class work.

Attendance Policy

Your regular participation in this class is a vital part of your success. Each student is allotted up to four absences—no more.

Upon the student’s fifth absence, his/her average will automatically decrease by one letter grade and, upon the sixth, by two letter grades.

If your absences put you at risk of failing the class, you will have two options: 1) withdraw from the class, which will generate a W if done on or before Monday, October 8th—or a WF if after that deadline or 2) remain on the roll (still attending classes, if so desired) and receive your earned score minus penalties for the course/semester. If you suspect that outside responsibilities might cause you to miss more than four classes, then you should consider taking the course at another time. Note: There is no distinction between excused and unexcused absences. October 8th is the last day to withdraw from class with a W (without incurring a WF).
Communication Rules

Communication Rules:
Please contact me via either westga.edu email or CourseDen email. I check both every day. I will respond to all emails within 24 hours during the week and generally within 48 hours over the weekends. If you don’t hear back from me within that timeframe, please write to me again. I will not respond to emails from students that are not from official UWG email accounts.

Expected Response Times
Out-of-class assignments will generally be graded within two weeks of the due date and will contain feedback on what you did well and what you can do to improve. When I offer revision opportunities, expect response times to be a bit longer, as I place priority on original assignments when allocating my grading time.

Expectations of Students

Course Structure:
I expect you to:
· Display a working knowledge of the syllabus
· Attend all classes, arriving on time with relevant materials in hand
· Participate fully and respectfully in class discussions
· Remain attentive and engaged throughout the class period
· Respond graciously to constructive criticism
· Improve your writing during each step of the process
· Avoid repeating mistakes addressed in feedback
· Submit quality work, complete and on time
· Communicate promptly with me about any questions or concerns

Ultimately, your success depends on how much time, energy, and effort you are willing to put into the class. I am only in control over one-hundred percent of my own effort, but I promise you will always receive my full effort. I hope to have the same from you.

Course and UWG Policies

Attendance Policy:
In order to distribute Title IV funding (federal student aid), student attendance verification is required. For this class, students are required to be present in class during week 1, in order to be considered as attending class. Students who do not attend in the first three days may be dropped from the class for non-attendance.

Americans with Disabilities Act Statement:
If you are a student who is disabled as defined under the Americans with Disabilities Act and require assistance or support services, please seek assistance through the Center for Disability. UWG also provides Accessibility Statements for Technology that you may be required to use for this course.

Honor Code
At the University of West Georgia, we believe that academic and personal integrity are based upon honesty, trust, fairness, respect, and responsibility. Students at West Georgia assume responsibility for upholding the honor code. West Georgia students pledge to refrain from engaging in acts that do not maintain academic and personal integrity. These include, but are not limited to, plagiarism, cheating, fabrication, aid of academic dishonesty, lying, bribery or threats, and stealing.

The University of West Georgia maintains and monitors a confidential Academic Dishonesty Tracking System. This database collects and reports patterns of repeated student violations across all the Colleges, the Ingram Library, and the School of Nursing. Each incidence of academic dishonesty is subject to review and consideration by the instructor, and is subject to a range of academic penalties including, but not limited to, failing the assignment and/or failing the course. Student conduct sanctions range from verbal warning to suspension or expulsion depending on the magnitude of the offense and/or number of offenses. The incident becomes part of the student’s conduct record at UWG.

Additionally, the student is responsible for safeguarding his/her computer account. The student’s account and network connection are for his/her individual use. A computer account is to be used only by the person to whom it has been issued. The student is responsible for all actions originating through his/her account or network connection. Students must not impersonate others or misrepresent or conceal their identities in electronic messages and actions. For more information on the University of West Georgia Honor Code, please see the Student Handbook.
