PROGRAM, CURRICULUM, AND COURSE ADDITIONS AND REVISIONS

Spring 2026	NURS 9007 Applied Statistical Analysis Course revision with change in assignments meeting course objectives.
Fall 2025	NURS 9018 Advanced Research Methods- Course revision with change in assignments meeting course objectives.
Fall 2022-now	Chair of the Graduate Curriculum Revision Workgroup at UWG to incorporate the AACN Essentials.
Fall 2020- Fall 2021	Students were back on campus with Zoom options for half the class. To support social distancing, online Zoom sessions were held for half the students each day (45 seniors, 38 juniors). Created a proposal for a two-year plan for adding two additional faculty, a simulation coordinator, and a clinical coordinator.
Fall 2019- Fall 2020	CCNE accreditation completed. Covid pandemic prompted many revisions in course delivery. Beginning spring of 2020, all coursework was online, using the Zoom platform. Clinical work was also switched to online for spring of 2020 only.
Fall 2018- Fall 2019	The increase to admit 48 students by Fall of 2019 and Berry faculty input prompted a curriculum change. In order to follow the teaching philosophy of the faculty at Berry DON, I requested an additional section of all clinical courses and lab courses be added. This would keep the class sizes smaller and permit engagement and active learning techniques to continue at Berry. In Fall of 2019, a pilot of two sections of NUR 311, NUR 312 were taught. Additionally, two new skills labs, two new faculty office spaces, and use of a state-of-the-art classroom for seniors were added. Additional faculty, space and resources were requested and received.
Summer 2018	Student numbers in the Division of Nursing prompted a course section addition in NUR 410. The ability for students to study concepts in adult health nursing as they are immersed in a culture different from their own was needed to accommodate new nursing students. The goal of the course was for students to become culturally aware.
Fall 2015- Spring 2016	Student course evaluations prompted a course revision in NUR 412. The students indicated the course content was challenging and they could not see a connection to their practice site. An exploratory study was conducted, seeking the perspective of baccalaureate nurse recruiters from hospitals. The findings from the study suggested nurses on a baccalaureate level do need to meet the objectives of the course. However, some course content was not needed. Another resource for the decisions for course revision was the American Association of Colleges of Nursing's Essentials of Baccalaureate Education for Professional Nursing Practice document for Baccalaureate nursing. Using the findings from the study and the document, the text of the course was changed to reflect the needed content of the course and the assignments (although similar to the previous year) were restructured to meet the learning objectives more precisely.

Summer/Fall 2013 Developed the entire 60 credit hour nursing curriculum for the Berry College Division of Nursing.
